Following the input from the trustees on the data analysis that they thought would be useful, a report was generated covering the whole 5-year period from 2014 to 2020. This provided a substantial amount of data which was sent to Health economist Professor John Posnett for review. He felt that a health economist was not needed to analyse the data and that we should carry on ourselves.

Following this, more data was analysed on cost, nursing skills mix and costs. We then shared this in confidence with Prof Una Adderley of Leeds University who is leading a National Wound Care Strategy Programme initiative to improve the outcomes of VLUs in England NHS and is a Health Economist NHS Consultant to the NWCSP.

After some scrutiny and further data analysis, the Leg Club Psycho-social model was included in the draft proposals to Senior Managers in NHS England.

Since then, we have been working towards the goal of producing a publication of Richard Lindsay's work on his conceptual design and implementation of the database and the results of the subsequent analysis of the data.
