Ann Clwyd - March 1937 – 21 July 2023

Prof Ellie Lindsay OBE is extremely saddened to share the news that Ann Clwyd, former Labour MP for the Cynon Valley constituency died peacefully at her home in Cardiff on the 21 July 2023.

Ann was the Labour MP for Cynon Valley for over 34 years and a formidable campaigner from supporting the Welsh miners in 1994 to demanding compensation for the Post Office workers who were wrongly convicted.

Ann was a passionate believer in improving standards in the NHS and as such in 2013 the then Prime Minister, David Cameron asked her to lead a review of how hospitals in England handled complaints.

Ellie Lindsay stated, “It was a great privilege to not only have enjoyed Ann’s friendship but to be in the company of someone with dedication, passion, and a parliamentary voice for person centred care”.

Ann’s passion for putting the patient first continued after her retirement as a MP and was still going strong right to the end.

Ellie’s heartfelt condolences go out to her family and friends.
