Welcome to Sydney Adventist Hospital

The Sydney Adventist Hospital (SAH), known as ‘The San’, is an acute-care private hospital with 441 licensed overnight beds and is the largest single campus not for profit private hospital in NSW.

Our mission is “Christianity in Action – Caring for the body, mind and spirit of our patients, colleagues, community and ourselves”.

San Education, a department of Sydney Adventist Hospital, provides a comprehensive education program designed to support both the needs of the hospital staff and members of the wider community. To enhance and support this department, a separate entity called ‘San College of Education’ operates as a fully functioning ‘Registered Training Organisation’ (RTO). The RTO offers specific, nationally recognised Training Packages, Qualifications, Courses and individual ‘Units of Competency’.

If you’re looking to upgrade your skills in the Health Care industry or interested in community health issues, San Education offers a broad range of relevant courses, workshops and conferences. Certificates and statements of attainment are provided for portfolios, and one CPD (Continuing Professional Development) point is awarded for health professionals for every hour of instruction.
Welcome to the Conference

On behalf of the Sydney Adventist Hospital’s Education and Wound Management teams, I would like to welcome you to this event.

The Bi-annual Sydney Adventist Hospital Wound Conference has developed into a major forum where clinicians from all the domains of health care can meet and learn from nationally and internationally renowned wound management experts.

The Conference program is designed to offer information which is directly applicable to the clinical setting, allowing medical, nursing and allied health delegates to immediately enhance their wound care practice within their workplace.

The Conference is also strongly supported by the wound product industry. I am grateful for their involvement and their willingness to share new and updated information on their products and devices. They provide clinicians with the “tools of our trade”. Their input ensures that we are best placed to use these “tools” for our patient’s best interests.

The Conference is also a great opportunity to extend your network of contacts, to share your challenges and aspirations, and to expand your clinical horizons.

Enjoy the day.

Keynote Speakers

Dr David Robinson
Vascular Surgeon
Royal Prince Alfred Hospital / Sydney Adventist Hospital

Dr David Robinson trained in Australia and the UK, and currently works as a Vascular Surgeon at the Royal Prince Alfred and Sydney Adventist Hospitals – where he is Head of the division of Vascular Surgery. He has an interest in the management of problems of the diabetic foot, as well as the management of lower limb ulceration.

Rae Johnson
CNC – Burns Grafts & Skin Loss
Concord Hospital

Held current position since 1991 during which she has developed, coordinated and lectured for the Burns Curriculum within the Masters for Critical Care, University of Sydney (1990 -1994).

Rae established an Ambulatory Burns Clinic service that reduced hospitalisations and increased early discharge from the Burns Unit.

She regularly lectures for under graduate, post graduate level in nursing as well as presenting nationally and internationally.

Changed practices related to burn wound management including cleansing and debriding (wound bed preparation) while utilizing an “approach” rather than “avoidance” pain management strategy, thereby reducing the need pharmacological requirements.

Developed a model of self-care or prehabilitation whereby the patient re-engages with their body at a physical and psychological level and facilitating social re-engagement. Disseminate these practices into the workplace across disciplines and local health districts. Rae is currently enrolled in Masters (Nurse Practitioner) University of Sydney.
Kerri Sullivan
CNC – Paediatric Surgery
John Hunter Children’s Hospital

Kerri has worked in the specialty of Paediatrics for more than 35 years. She commissioned the position of Clinical Nurse Consultant Paediatric Surgery at the John Hunter Children’s Hospital, Newcastle in 2000. This position has afforded her opportunities to gain particular expertise in paediatric wound management – across the age continuum of extreme prematurity [23 week gestation] to adolescence [18years].

Kerri has delivered papers in this field at both international and state level.
Gary Bain
CNC – Wound Care
Sydney Adventist Hospital

Gary completed his undergraduate training at Avondale College, obtaining a Diploma of Applied Science (Nursing). He obtained a Bachelor of Nursing through University of Technology Sydney, combining this with a Burns and Plastic Nursing Certificate.

He completed his tertiary studies at the School of Medicine, University of NSW with a Masters Degree in Clinical Education. He commenced the Sydney Adventist Hospital’s Wound Management Service with Nursing Unit Manager John Sanburg in 1989 and has directed the nurse-led outpatient Wound Clinic since 1990.

In the ensuing years Gary has qualified as a Continence Advisor, been an inaugural member of the HEMI Advanced Wound Care Network, an associate member of the Wound Foundation of Australia, acted on the editorial board for Primary Intention, attended the Oxford University Wound Healing Summer School, participated as a member of the AWMA 2012 Conference Scientific Program Committee, gained the position of guest lecturer for the Australian Pharmaceutical Society and currently presents to medical, nursing and allied health professionals on behalf of SAN Education.

Both within his hospital and local community, he is commonly referred to as “the wound guy”.

Conference Facilities

The Sydney Adventist Hospital Clinical Education Centre opened in November 2013. The facility includes the 380 seat Charles Warman Auditorium, the Beverley Ellen Peters Laboratories, problem based learning rooms, and a library. Our 'virtual hospital' Simulation Centre – with critical care care, operating theatre and a 12 bed ward – will train students, doctors and other health care professionals.
